A Monthly Update of New and Noteworthy Acquisitions from East View Geospatial

A Note from Us at East View

This inaugural issue of “New and Noteworthy” is designed primarily for librarians and other information professionals who would benefit from a quick summary of the recent acquisitions of East View Geospatial and sister companies, East View Information Services (www.eastview.com) and East View Map Link (www.evmaplink.com).

These three companies deploy a wide net on a daily and global basis to bring to market an astounding selection of maps, geospatial data, and related publications. Frankly, it’s hard to communicate it all in effective and simple ways. This publication, which we intend to issue monthly, will try to do a better job for those of you who are building your own collections of such materials. It is very much a work in progress and we welcome all suggestions for improvement.

Please note that the same product is often available in many formats, some of which are essentially on-demand: original print, POD, raster/PDF, geomosaics/WMTS/web services, vector/GIS, and so on. It’s a fact of life in this business that all things geospatial are complex. We are working to simplify this, and as always, to make everything more affordable.

Please never hesitate to contact us with your questions. It’s hard to illustrate all options for any given product, and sometimes the best thing to do is to ask us a question or let us know what you are looking for. Thanks for your attention, and thanks for your support!

Sincerely,
Kent D. Lee
President and CEO, East View Companies
