Magyarország nemzeti atlasza : társadalom [The National Atlas of Hungary: Society]

Magyar Tudományos Akadémia, Csillagászati és Földtudományi Kutatóközpont, Földrajztudományi Intézet, Hungary. 196 pages. ISBN 9789639545632. In Hungarian. 2021.

The Society volume (number 3 of 4) of the new Hungarian National Atlas series focuses on Hungary's society, offering an overview of the spatial dynamics of the population and exploring historical roots. Several chapters analyze the interconnections and interactions between the human and natural environments (e.g., the human side of living conditions and quality of life, housing conditions and the municipal environment). The thematic maps discuss diverse topics such as fertility, live births out of wedlock, life expectancy, the main causes of death, resident foreigners, the cross-border migration of Hungarians, daily commuting abroad, ageing, marriage, divorce, cohabitation, ethno-linguistic structure, religiosity, educational level, unemployment, income inequalities, sub-urbanization, the types and dynamics of urban and rural settlements, the changing face of Budapest and its agglomeration, hospital care, social welfare, the first year of Covid-19, internet use, housing conditions, the housing market, road accidents and crime.

Chernoe i Azovskoe moria : ekologicheskii atlas [Black and Azov Seas: Ecological Atlas, Черное и Азовское моря : экологический атлас]

Arkticheskii nauchnyi tsentr, Russia. 383 pages. ISBN 9785604325629. In Russian. 2020.

This Atlas acquaints readers with the species - biological indicators of marine Arctic ecosystems, adopted in accordance with the order of the Ministry of Natural Resources of Russia dated September 22, 2015 No. 25-r "On approval of the list of flora and fauna species that are indicators of the sustainable state of marine ecosystems in the Arctic zone of the Russian Federation." The publication is one of the stages in the implementation of the program for the conservation of the biological diversity of marine ecosystems at the licensed areas of PJSC NK Rosneft in the Arctic zone of the Russian Federation. The publication contains a description of 61 species. In the chapters that precede the descriptions of the species, a brief description of the seas of the Russian Arctic is presented and the methods of biological indication are described. The final chapter is devoted to the assessment of biological diversity at the Company's license areas. The book provides an opportunity to obtain brief and up-to-date information on the features of biology, distribution, population structure, economic significance, natural and anthropogenic threats to the described species. The Atlas contains original illustrations, photographs and maps of species distribution areas.

Zhong xi shu ju, China. 656 Pages. ISBN 9787547517864. In Chinese (simplified). 2020.

This book mainly includes modern maps of cities or towns in China that are surveyed and produced by foreigners. At the same time, in order to fully show the history of the evolution of Chinese city maps drawn by foreign countries, the editor of this book also includes some of the creations in the pre-modern era. In the early modern times, foreigners who did not use the actual measurement technology of modern times drew Chinese city maps, as well as some detailed city bird's-eye maps or painted maps drawn by people or institutions in the Netherlands, the United Kingdom, Japan and other countries to facilitate comparative research.

Atlas historyczny Galicji [Historical Atlas of Galicia]

Miejska Biblioteka Publiczna w Chrzanowie, Poland.
127 pages. ISBN 9788395682339. In Polish. 2021.

The Historical Atlas of Galicia is the first cartographic study of the history of the Kingdom of Galicia in the years 1772-1919. On 80 exceptionally detailed and extremely carefully prepared maps and charts, it presents the history of the Polish lands which, as a result of the first and third partition of Poland, became part of the Habsburg empire under the name of the Kingdom of Galicia and Lodomeria. The maps analyze not only the political history of Galicia and its changing borders, but also many other aspects of the history of Polish lands under Austrian rule.

De l'océan Indien au monde : atlas des espaces d'appartenance de La Réunion [From the Indian Ocean to the World: Atlas of Reunion Island's Belonging Spaces]

Orphie, France. 197 pages. ISBN 9791029803567. In French. 2020.

Reunion belongs to several spaces for geographical, historical or institutional purposes: it emerges in the southwest of the Indian Ocean, but it is a French European island. Along with other former colonies, it is part of the French overseas territories and the outermost regions of the European Union. At a time of globalization, it shares all the concerns of the planet. We should know France and Europe well with which our relations are almost exclusive, but this is not always the case. We are turning our backs, so to speak, on our neighbors in the Indian Ocean with whom our exchanges remain limited. We ignore the other islands of the "archipelago France" and even more the other outermost European regions. And what about the global issues that seem far away to us, when, like the islands, the Earth is a "finite" world.
